   @queens_hall   @queenshall   @queens_hall
2019 marks forty years since The Queen’s Hall first opened its doors to Edinburgh’s discerning music lovers. As we embark on the journey to take QH into the next stage of its life we’re committed to developing ambitious events which push the boundaries of music genres, partnering with artists who are the best in their field. We’re really pleased to have support from Creative Scotland for QH@40 – a series of adventures in music with performances in four strands in partnership with guest curators: Jazz (Tommy Smith), Folk (Heidi Talbot), Pop/Indie (Nicola Meighan) and Experimental (Alasdair Campbell – Counterflows). We have the first of Tommy’s events on 18 April, his acclaimed Beasts of Scotland (p27) and Heidi curates her first show on 4 May with Väsen, Floriane Blancke and Inge Thomson (p32). Details of the other events will be published soon on our website.

Winterplay, our mini-festival of chamber music directed by Susan Tomes returns on 16 February (p8) and we continue our long history of working with talented young performers with the Resonate series of concerts (p15) and a 20th anniversary performance of Martyn Bennett’s Mackay’s Memoirs on 4 March (p14).

Looking ahead to later in the year, we have a wonderful concert with Steven Osborne and Alban Gerhardt on our birthday, 6 July and a dedicated anniversary concert by the Scottish Chamber Orchestra on 24 October.

We hope you’ll join us during our celebratory year and look forward to you sharing your memories with us – old and new – throughout 2019.

Evan Henderson, Chief Executive

SUPPORT US

The Queen’s Hall is an independent charity currently assisted by funding from the City of Edinburgh Council. We need to raise substantial additional funds each year to support our vibrant music programme, to look after (and improve) our A-listed Georgian building and to provide music learning and outreach projects. You can give a one-off donation or set up a regular standing order. There are lots of ways for you to support us and every amount helps, no matter how small:

› Add a donation when you buy a ticket
› Donate online to one of our funds at http://www.thequeenshall.net/support/donations
› Become a member
› Encourage your business to provide corporate sponsorship
› Leave a gift in your will or make a gift of shares

Classic Rock Show

£21.50 – £36.50

From AC/DC to ZZ Top and everything in between, including Led Zeppelin, Dire Straits, Queen, The Eagles, Lynyrd Skynyrd and Meatloaf plus much, much more.

Anthem after anthem, riff after riff, solo after solo, ‘The Classic Rock Show’ brings the original recordings back to life on stage; with a huge sound and light show to match. Culminating in a show-stopping guitar duel that is definitely not to be missed.

Animated film projection by Neil Kempsell

Twenty years ago to the day, Martyn Bennett was commissioned to write a special piece of music to commemorate the centenary of his alma mater – Broughton High School. It was written for and performed by the then students at The City of Edinburgh Music School. The piece was used for the Opening Ceremony of the New Scottish Parliament in Princes Street Gardens on 1 July 1999, and televised live from the gardens as the Red Arrows flew over. There was great interest in the piece and it was recorded and completed on the day Martyn died, 30th January 2005. It is his final, and many would say, best work.

Tonight we invite back three musicians who were involved in the original performance, or recording, to revisit the piece with the current crop of specialist musicians from the music school. In the first half they will showcase some new collaborations with the students and there will be solo and ensemble work from the young stars of the future.

Joanne Shaw Taylor plus Support

£27

Known for her big, sultry voice, Joanne Shaw Taylor is one of the UK’s stars of blues rock and tours with her new studio album Reckless Heart. As a guitarist, Joanne mixes many different genres into her blues-based music, including borrowing the best attributes from rock, funk, soul and pop as sources of inspiration in her writing and playing. Though she has enough chops to keep up with the best in the business, she tends to rely more on groove and emotion to draw in her audience, holding their attention until the last notes of the song fade away.

Scottish Chamber Orchestra: Ravel Piano Concerto played by Bertrand Chamayou

£6 – £35

Ginastera: Variaciones Concertantes
Ravel: Piano Concerto in G
Beethoven: Symphony No 4

Josep Pons Conductor
Bertrand Chamayou Piano

Each of Ginastera’s 12 Variaciones puts different orchestral players in the spotlight, making a kind of kaleidoscopic spectacular. Then Bertrand Chamayou takes the stage for Ravel’s jazzy concerto. Ravel fell in love with jazz in the 1920s and fused it brilliantly with his own European heritage. After such a high-octane first half, Pons closes the evening with Beethoven’s lustrous Fourth Symphony.

Schoenberg: String Quartet No 2

Emma Morwood Soprano

Alongside their continuing exploration of Beethoven’s Op 18 quartets, the focus of the Edinburgh Quartet’s third instalment to the Exile project is Schoenberg’s String Quartet No 2, featuring soprano voice and the setting of texts by poet Stefan George. The first, Litanei, is a cry of a lost soul. The second, Entrückung, is about transcendence – the opening words welcoming in a new world.

Tommy Smith Sextet: Beasts of Scotland

£17

Tommy Smith’s Beasts of Scotland is one of the most successful commissions in Glasgow Jazz Festival’s history. Inspired by the poetry the late Edwin Morgan created to describe the characteristics of Scottish wildlife, from the majestic golden eagle to the pesky midge, Smith created a suite of musical portraits that teemed with ideas and in performance crackled with jazz spontaneity. Here for the first time in many years, Smith revisits a piece that represents one of his own musical triumphs, an exciting, beautifully composed response to his great friend’s witty and graphic writing.

Narrated by Tam Dean Burn with support from Square One.

Presented by The Queen’s Hall and supported by Creative Scotland and Medici Advisors

This show is part of QH@40 – a series of curated performances across four strands funded by Creative Scotland to celebrate The Queen’s Hall’s 40th Anniversary as a venue in 2019. Each strand is in partnership with guest curators: Jazz (Tommy Smith); Folk (Heidi Talbot); Contemporary Rock / Pop / Indie (Nicola Meighan) and Experimental New Music (Alasdair Campbell – Counterflows). The aim is to promote unique collaborations and events with diverse and extreme line-ups of the highest artistic quality and creativity. Shows will be published on our website throughout the year.

Dunedin Consort:
Matthew Passion

£5 – £25

Bach: Matthew Passion BWV 244
Trevor Pinnock Director
Hugo Hymas Evangelist

From the intractable swell of the opening chorus to the profound solemnity of the last, its tone one of quiet resignation, the Matthew Passion is a work with the power to move us like no other.

The Consort welcome Trevor Pinnock, a towering figure of the early music movement, for the first time. He will conduct the work in its original format of one voice per part.

Lake Street Dive

£21.50

The title of Lake Street Dive’s Free Yourself Up is both an exhortation to listeners and a statement of purpose for the band. The songs have an infectious swagger, even when dealing with awkward breakups or the unsettled state of our world. It’s their most confident album yet, seriously soulful and exuberantly rocking.
And, in many ways, it is also their most intimate and collaborative, with the band itself taking over the production reins and working as a tightly knit unit. In addition, the quartet drafted touring keyboardist Akie Bermiss to join them in the studio, literally freeing the band up to explore a wider range of instrumental textures, construct more full-bodied arrangements, and build stacks of lively background harmonies.

Scottish Chamber Orchestra: Hardenberger plays Haydn and Gruber

£6 – £35

Schulhoff: Serenade Op 18
Haydn: Trumpet Concerto in E-flat
Gruber: Busking
Beethoven: Twelve Contradances

John Storgårds Conductor
Håkan Hardenberger Trumpet

“Great fun for the audience” – very few new pieces of music are reviewed like that, but Busking is a trumpet concerto unlike any you will have heard before, and it does leave its audiences cheering.

TradFest Launch Gig: Lankum

£19.50

Lankum are the type of band you never knew you were searching for. A group of individuals united by a gang mentality whose close vocal harmonies, instrumental interplay and dramatic storytelling pin you to the seat and revive the spirit. They show that folk music can be angry, progressive and is still a vital force today.

Comprising brothers Ian Lynch (uilleann pipes, tin whistle, vocals), Daragh Lynch (vocals, guitar) alongside Cormac Mac Diarmada (fiddle) and Radie Peat (harmonium, accordion, vocals), Lankum channel a diverse set of influences and histories to create a beautifully rare thing: a songbook from and for the people.

Heidi Talbot presents Väsen, Floriane Blancke, Inge Thomson

£17

Acclaimed folk artist, Heidi Talbot presents and performs with a fantastic line-up as part of Trad Fest and QH@40 – a series of curated performances across four strands funded by Creative Scotland to celebrate The Queen’s Hall’s 40th Anniversary as a venue in 2019.

Väsen’s music is based in the rural Swedish tradition with a contemporary flavour, and features an instrument unique to Sweden called the nyckelharpa (keyed fiddle) along with viola and guitar. Floriane Blancke is a harpist, fiddler, pianist, and vocalist and Inge Thomson conjures a sonic scene of other-worldly beauty, songs and tunes deftly interwoven with loops and electronic trickery.

Presented by The Queen's Hall as part of Trad Fest and supported by Creative Scotland
Grammy Award-winning singer-songwriter Patty Griffin is among the most consequential singer-songwriters of her generation, a quintessentially American artist whose wide-ranging canon incisively explores the intimate moments and universal emotions that bind us together. Her songs have been covered by the likes of Emmylou Harris, The Dixie Chicks and Solomon Burke. Over the course of two decades, she has crafted nine classic studio albums and two live collections, a remarkable body of work that prompted the New York Times to hail her for “writing cameo-carved songs that create complete emotional portraits of specific people...her songs have independent lives that continue in your head when the music ends.”

Tim Garland: Weather Walker Trio with Jason Rebello and Yuri Goloubev

£17

Tim Garland’s Weather Walker Trio sees three world-class virtuosi at the height of their creative powers. The material for Weather Walker is born from Tim’s love of the natural world, in particular the Lake District. The music makes use of folk song and, for these series of concerts, some unconventional and spellbinding atmospheric devices. Jason Rebello has been close friends with Tim for almost 30 years and his own international career spanning Sting, Jeff Beck and an award winning solo album, makes him one of the UKs most experienced and creative pianists. Yuri Goloubev, Moscow’s own wunderkind of the bass, has a truly breathtaking expressive voice on his instrument, perfectly complimenting Grammy-winning Garland’s compositions which pack lyricism, power and interaction in equal measure.

Dunedin Consort: Bach: The Last Resort

£5 – £22

Kuhnau: Gott, sei mir gnädig
Graupner: Magnificat
Telemann: Siehe, es hat überwunden der Lowe
Bach: Cantata 22 ‘Jesus nahm zu sich die Zwölfe’
Bach: Cantata 23 ‘Du wahrer Gott und David’s Sohn’

Bach’s rich musical legacy as we know it today is partly the result of a historical accident. When he applied for the position of Kantor at Leipzig’s Thomaskirche in 1722, Bach was only third choice for the post. Telemann turned the offer down after some deliberation and Graupner was not released from his post of Kapellmeister in Hesse. “Since we cannot get the best, then we will have to settle for average”, the Council concluded, as it handed the title to Bach. Join us as we step back in time and explore the programme that Bach put together for this fateful application, a move that would shape the history of western music for centuries to come.

Frigg

£19.50

The leading act of the Nordic fiddle scene, Frigg features the premier talents of a generation of Finnish folk musicians: Alina Järvelä, Esko Järvelä, Tero Hyväluoma, Juho Kivivuori, Tommi Asplund, Ansi Salminen and Petri Prauda. Renowned the world over, the group draws influence from their homeland alongside those from their extensive travels – joyfully fusing Nordic and bluegrass flavours to create their own signature: Nordgrass. Tight interplay between four violins, with mandolin, cittern, guitar and contrabass, is spiced with a sparkling, high-energy stage show – presenting an outstanding display of richly exultant virtuosity on all fronts.

Danny Baker: Good Time Charlie’s Back!

£22 students only, £24.50

“Following the extraordinary success of the Cradle To Grave tour I was asked to reconsider my initial statement that I would never undertake such a venture again. Therefore I am pleased to announce that, to mark this momentous decision, I will be embarking on a nationwide, high-principled, peppy series of one-night-stands calling at dozens of theatres around the country starting in May 2019.” (Danny Baker)

Scottish Ensemble: Dance Music with Malin Broman

 Sat 25 May, 7.30pm

£5 – £16; free for under 16s

Piazzolla: Four Seasons of Buenos Aires
and extracts from
Schubert: String Quartet No. 14
(Death and The Maiden) [arr. Mahler]
Britten: Variations on a Theme of Frank Bridge
Purcell: Various dances

Collaborator/soloist Malin Broman (guest director/violin)

Dance Music is a joyful sashay through a host of pieces written with our feet in mind. Alongside Piazzolla’s undeniably infectious take on Vivaldi’s Four Seasons, pulsating with the rhythms of Latin America, comes the breathless tarantella that ends Schubert’s Death and The Maiden and an assortment of other waltzes, marches, serenades and romances. Leader of the Swedish Radio Orchestra, Malin Broman is an award-winning violinist with a particular passion for chamber music, and a desire to re-define the concert experience.

Edinburgh Quartet: Conflicting Places

 Sun 26 May, 3pm

£10 – £15

Beethoven: String Quartet Op 18 No 2
Brahms: String Quartet No 1
Bacewicz: String Quartet No 4

The final concert in Edinburgh Quartet’s exploration of Exile features Polish composer Grażyna Bacewicz’s fourth string quartet, influenced by conflicted senses of place, after her family were forced to flee during the Warsaw Uprising and subsequent destruction of the city.

Their exploration of Beethoven’s Op 18 quartets continues, alongside Brahms’ first string quartet, is described as restless and intense.

Howard Jones

£19.50 – £39.50

Acclaimed synthpop pioneer Howard Jones tours to celebrate both the release of his brand new album Transform and the 35th anniversary of the release of his debut album Human’s Lib.

As well as performing songs from the new album, concert goers can expect to hear many classic songs including What Is Love, New Song, Pearl In The Shell, Things Can Only Get Better and Hide and Seek (which he performed at Live Aid).

To coincide with the 35th anniversary, Cherry Red Records released box sets of both Human’s Lib and Dream Into Action in November 2018.

Howard will be joined by very special guests China Crisis; Eddie Lundon and Gary Daly will be performing their unique and glorious Merseyside pop with hits such as Wishful Thinking, Black Man Ray and Working With Fire and Steel.
